RENEW AIR RAIDS ON NAZIS

Reds Fight Furiously At Stalingrad

Great Land Victory Of Pacific War Is Seen In Solomons

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The greatest American land victory of the Pacific war was indicated today by developments in the battle of the Solomons where U. S. Marines were reported by the Navy to be in control of several "captured" islands on which they were "mopping up remnants" of Japanese forces.

Such was the interpretation placed on the Navy's latest communique which also disclosed that American counter-invasion forces have repulsed "casual bombardments" by enemy aircraft, destroyers and submarines and that U. S. planes have bombed and set afire an enemy cruiser or destroyer.

Campaign Not Over

While Naval experts admitted that the "Solomon campaign" is far from over, and that the Japanese may counter-attack in force in an effort to expel the Americans, they pointed out that just two weeks after the battle began the U. S. forces are in complete domination of at least three islands.

Thus, for the first time since Japanese hordes swept through the Philippines, Malaya and the East Indies, their land forces apparently

RED TROOPS ATTACK IN LENINGRAD AREA

German Advances In Area Below Krasnodai Are Conceded By Moscow

By JAMES E. BROWN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Aug. 21.—The waters of the Don River west of Stalingrad were besmirched with the blood of Nazi troops today as Soviet defenders beat back repeated assaults by German units seeking to force new crossings below Kletskaya.

Nazi pressure against the Russian defenses west of the important industrial city on the Volga remained intense, the Soviet high command announced at noon.

Stubborn fighting raged unabated southeast of Kletskaya, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, but the Germans' repeated attacks were repulsed, it was said in an official communique.

Red Counter-Attacks

Northeast of Kotelnikovo, 95 miles southwest of the city and the southern sector of the Stalingrad front, Soviet counter-attacks were said to be exhausting the German offensive forces. Nazi armies in this area are continuing to sustain heavy losses, the high command said.

Although it was admitted that a new withdrawal had to be effected in the Krasnodar area of the western Caucasus the German armies here also were heavily depleted by Russian gunfire. The Red army reported that in three days of fighting south of fallen Krasnodar 2,000 Germans were slain and much Nazi equipment destroyed.

Slight gains were made by the Nazis in the central Caucasus battlefront southeast of Pyatigorsk,

Ickes Issues New Tank Car Gasoline Ban

Twenty States Barred From Tank Car Shipments Of Gasoline

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—In an effort to alleviate the east coast petroleum shortage, oil coordinator Harold L. Ickes today banned the transportation of automotive gasoline by rail in 20 midwest and southwestern states, heightening the possibility of rationing in those areas.

The order, effective Aug. 24, will release an estimated 5,000 to 7,000 additional tank cars for service to the Atlantic seaboard, and it was expected to bring another 100,000 barrels of petroleum daily into the 17-state shortage zones.

States affected by Ickes order are:

Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Ickes said the 20 states would have to rely entirely upon pipe lines, trucks and barges for their supply of gasoline.

AMERICAN BOMBERS MAKE THIRD RAID

Huge American Bombers Escape Loss Of Any Plane In Raids

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Smashing blows against the Nazi-held coast of France to "soften" the German defenses in preparation for eventual invasion were underway today.

Hardly had the last of the commando forces returned to the shores of England yesterday from the daring raid on Dieppe when an Allied air armada of 500 fighters and an American flying fortress squadron renewed their battering assaults on Nazi fortifications and other military objectives.

The fighter squadrons, including American, Royal Air Force and dominion units, just before dusk made a tremendous four-pronged sweep across Nazi-controlled northern France.

Simultaneously United States Flying Fortresses, accompanied by a fighter escort, bombed the railway terminal at Amiens, 60 miles east of Dieppe.

Third U. S. Bomb Raid

This third consecutive assault by the huge American bombers—without loss of a single plane on any of the three raids—presaged the start of daily forays by the devastating aerial monsters. They supported the commando raid at Dieppe Wednseday by paralyzing the Nazi

Delayed Action Bombs Cause Havoc At Dieppe

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

VICHY, Aug. 21.—Delayed action incendiary bombs left behind by the commandos who wrecked the channel city of Dieppe are causing new fires and havoc in the German coastal stronghold, Gernand De Brinon, the Vichy government's ambassador to Paris, reported today.

Latest reports from the prefect of the Seine-Inferieure department and from the sub-prefect of Dieppe itself said that damage to the city was extremely heavy, De Brinon's advices said.

The first detachment of British, Canadian, American and De Gaullist troops entered the streets of Dieppe at 9:30 a. m., he said, and half an hour later tanks rolled up on the beaches.

Civilian casualties totalled 36 killed and 63 wounded, De Brinon said. He listed allied prisoners at 1,800.

Yank Fighter Pilots In Battle Over Dieppe Ready To Go Again

By THOMAS WATSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

AN AMERICAN AIR BASE IN BRITAIN, Aug. 21—American fighter pilots who provided a protective aerial umbrella for United States commando units in the allied raid on Dieppe declared today that they enjoyed their first major scrap with the Nazi Luftwaffe and were ready at any time for more of the same.

Their commander, 25-year-old Major Fred M. Dean, of St. Petersburg, Fla., praised the coolness and bravery of the fighter pilots during the ordeal of their first major battle.

Baptism Of Fire

"While this was not my first scrap for most of my boys it was their baptism of fire and I am proud of them.

"It was my idea of a major air fight. It had everything and was a grand experience for all the boys. Nearly all are youngsters around 20. Look at them.

"They are ready to take to the air at any given second without any let up.

"It was arranged that all officers in the squadron would have a crack during the Dieppe fighting but owing to the early halt, one man was left out and today he is the grouchiest man at this station.

"I made four sorties. The task was to provide a cover for the landing forces against bombing attack. That's why we couldn't break formation and engage in dog fights. Even so, our Spitfires damaged two Focke-Wulf 190's."

Curly-haired Bob Corrigan of Louisville, Ky., went on a couple of flights during the Dieppe battle.

Nelson To Cite Production Increase

July Four Times Above November

W. P. B. Chairman Prepares For Even Greater Speed In Production

STATEMENT TO BE ISSUED SOON

By JACK VINCENT
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, today prepared to tell the nation that despite all the confusion in official Washington, production of planes, tanks, guns and ammunition increased about four times in July over November of last year—the month before Pearl Harbor.

His statement, which will comprise an answer to his critics in the bitter behind-the-scenes fight in the capital for control of the war production program, probably will be issued late tomorrow or Sunday. It will be an impressive report of industrial America's ability to produce war equipment.

Pushes Program

Meanwhile, Nelson pushed a three-point program to make the war program click at an even greater speed. Now fighting mad, Nelson silently but vigorously was:

1. Weeding the "deadwood" out of his own staff in a shakeup that will lead to the dismissal of 15 or 20 WPB officials.

2. Drafting a directive which will re-define and reassert his powers in a move to tell the army and navy that he and not the military is running the production program.

3. Re-scheduling production to bring all programs into unison and to keep raw materials flowing into factories at the exact time they are needed.

Latest To Leave

Latest person to leave the WPB staff was Douglas Kirk of Chicago, former chief of the containers branch. Kirk resigned in disagreement over policies. On Wednesday, Frederick Libbey, a WPB official, was ousted because he prematurely released what Nelson regarded as a confidential report.

The biggest surprise Nelson is preparing for his critics is the directive he is drawing up to reassert the powers President Roosevelt gave him when WPB was created. In it, he will declare that he, and not the army and navy munitions board, holds the final check-rein over priorities.

Many persons close to Nelson said the directive is designed to curb some of the powers hitherto claimed by Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell, army chief of supply. The army has claimed, it was reported, that it holds final veto power on what priorities will be granted.

Nelson also will demand that the army and navy submit to him a schedule of their needs and the timetable when they will be needed. The army and navy will have full charge of military strategy and choice of the type of planes and other munitions they want. But Nelson is going to insist that the WPB retain control of the production program in all other respects.

Sources close to the production chief said that Nelson will simply issue the directive under powers he already holds, and not take the fight directly to President Roosevelt. Thus it will be up to the army and navy to carry the burden of the controversy to Mr. Roosevelt. It then will be up to the president to decide whether he will back Nelson or the military in the fight.

To Mussolini: Talk about "Mare Nostrum" won't impress American radio listeners. They'll think it's just another horse medicine.

MULLENTOWNERS MEET THURSDAY

was not a dull moment. After dinner Mrs. Ida Suber, the president, gave her address of welcome that greatly impressed everyone and really made them feel that they were indeed welcome. This was followed by a response by Hugh Hannon, who also led the crowd in group singing.

Miss Betty Cope, a guest of the evening, gave several readings which were greatly enjoyed.

Former Principal Speaks

One of the features of the meeting was a letter written by J. Herb McIlvenny, who was unable to be present on account of his health. He was one of the prime movers in organizing the association and was greatly missed. Roy Leslie, a former principal of the Mullentown school, was guest speaker and his remarks were greatly enjoyed. He was followed by Chas. E. Fullerton, the oldest living principal of the Mullentown school, who presided over the old building which was burned down many years ago. Remarks were also made by Edna Harrah Hanlan and her brother, George Harrah of Canton, O., and they were also awarded prizes for those coming the greatest distance.

At the meeting it was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Brown former residents of this city, but who now reside at San Diego, Cal., will observe their golden wedding anniversary next Monday and all were urged to send greeting cards. When residents of New Castle, they lived on Hillcrest avenue. Letters were also received from Rev. Robert Charles Lewis, of Sierra Madre, Calif., and J. C. Haggerty, of Monessen, Pa.

Hannon Named

At the business meeting Hugh D. Hannon, was chosen president for the coming year; Bert Evans, vice president; C. Ed Brown, was re-elected secretary, and Clair Glass, was re-elected treasurer.

The new president will announce his committees for the coming year at a later date.

But two deaths were reported during the year, they being Anna Wysner and Edna Guest Mack.

Frank Woods presented prizes to Ida Suber, C. Ed Brown, James Hammond, Bully Huter, Edna Hanlan and Geo. Harrah.

The committees in charge of the affair were congratulated on all sides for the success of the affair. Mrs. Ida Suber also came in for many pretty compliments for the able manner in which she carried out the arrangements for the reunion. She was president for two years and was most untiring in her efforts to make the affair a grand success.

have been routed decisively, and a whole battle area taken from them.

"U. S. Marines are engaged in 'mopping up' remnants of the Japanese forces on the islands which were recently captured in the Solomon archipelago," the dramatic communique read.

Naval and military analysts pointed out this meant that organized resistance had been crushed and that the "remnants" undoubtedly were Nipponese troops who probably were hiding in the jungles to avoid capture and to wait—possibly in vain—for reinforcements or rescue.

No Islands Mentioned

While no specific islands have been mentioned except to give an idea of the location of the battle, it was believed that the Marines were located on Guaralcanal, Tulagi and Florida.

It must be pointed out that this was not the first land victory in the Pacific campaign. During the historic battle of Bataan, American and Filipino forces trounced Japanese several times and forced them to give ground, but at no time were U. S. forces in a position to rout the enemy from the peninsula.

The Solomon campaign has been a victory for U. S. land, sea and air forces since the battle began two weeks ago, but prior to the latest communique the Navy carefully avoided claiming the islands attacked had actually been captured.

No Doubt Of Capture

Previously the Navy reported as late as last Monday that the Marines were developing "shore positions" which they had captured in the initial attack. The latest communique left no doubt that the Marines have enlarged those positions to embrace virtually the entire area affected.

It was not known whether the occupation forces now are utilizing a landing field or fields in the Solomons, despite mention in the communique that American aircraft had bombed and set afire a Nipponese cruiser or destroyer.

Unconfirmed from Australia asserted that Marines were using a former Japanese landing field on Guadalcanal Island, but officials declined to comment on this point, even after the disclosure that the islands actually have been captured and now are in American hands.

Analysts asserted that Japan now may risk a seizable portion of its remaining sea power in an attempt to oust the Americans, but for the time being U. S. forces apparently are in complete control of the situation.

RUSSIANS BEAT BACK ATTEMPTS TO CROSS DON

140 miles from the Grozny oil fields, but they paid heavily in losses of men and equipment.

Carry Fight To Nazis

Far to the northwest of Moscow, however, the Russians were carrying the fight to the Nazis on the Leningrad front.

Soviet forces, according to the noon communique, occupied important positions and beat off all German counter-attacks to regain lost ground.

Front line dispatches said that German forces which succeeded in crossing the Don southeast of Kletskaya immediately began to dig in.

Soviet defense forces simultaneously launched a counter-onslaught and most of the Germans were massacred, either by bayonet attacks or being crushed under the tracks of Soviet tanks.

Hundreds of Nazis were thrown back into the Don bleeding profusely from mortal wounds. But the Nazi forces persisted in continued attacks to effect new crossings.

New German Advances

The German advances in the Pyatigorsk area and below Krasnodar were conceded in the midnight Soviet communique.

"Southeast of Pyatigorsk the enemy advanced at high cost of life," the communique stated.

"Heavy fighting is in progress against German forces, armed with automatic rifles, who penetrated the Russian positions.

"South of Krasnodar our troops withdrew to new positions under pressure of superior forces."

The German drive in the Krasnodar area is aimed at the Black Sea naval base of Novorossisk, 60 miles away. The spearhead fighting around Pyatigorsk is heading for the Grozny oil fields bordering the Caspian sea.

Despite the threat to its bases the Black sea fleet is continuing activities and today reported sinking a 5,000-ton German transport.

right among the German planes. It seems as though we were caught in a swarm of bees all making for us.

"We squirted fire to the right and left of them but actual dog fighting was out and when they dodged away we were not supposed to follow.

"It was hectic but I had too much to do to think about personal safety."

Wilfred Waltner, a former policemen from Kansas City, Mo., was in the thick of the fighting but came out unscathed.

"I had a good machine, plenty of ammunition and plenty on my mind except my own safety. I got three good squirts at a Focke-Wulf but don't think I downed him. It was a fine experience. I'm glad I was there and wouldn't have missed it.

"It was exactly as I expected. Obviously training had been given along the right lines because it was always the Germans who broke away from combat."

Major Dean said that two of his fighters were lost but he believes one is probably safe.

For a lot of school children in the county districts, only one more week of vacation remains. Most of the county schools are preparing to resume on August 31. In New Castle school session will not resume until a week later, so that students in the city have two weeks yet of vacation.

Grass is growing in the bed of the Big Run creek, near the Moravia street bridge, and not much water flowing. Seems as if much sand, gravel and dirt has accumulated at that point, causing the water to raise quite high near the bridge after heavy rains.

ALLIED BOMBERS AGAIN SMASH AT NAZI-HELD COAST

airdrome at Abbeville and the day previously smashed rail centers at Rouen to hamper communications lines by which German reinforcements could be rushed to Dieppe.

Combined operations headquarters which planned the commando raid on Dieppe meanwhile issued a communique pronouncing the operation a successful demonstration of coordination of all three services—the land, sea and air forces.

The commando leaders, headed by Lord Louis Mountbatten, cousin of King George VI, declared that the Dieppe raid was "a reconnaissance in force having a vital part in our agreed offensive policy."

Heavy Blow To Nazi Airforce

One of the most favorable results of the land, air and sea assault which brought about the largest battle in western Europe since the fall of France was the destruction of a major part of the Naiz defending airforce.

The commando communique said that 91 German planes definitely were known to have been destroyed and added:

"About twice that number probably were destroyed or damaged."

Thus the toll of Nazi fighter craft reached 273 out of an estimated 500 the Germans had based in northern France and Belgium.

Without disclosing the number involved, combined operations headquarters said that "a large military force" was embarked on naval vessels and transport for the Dieppe attack. The commandos assembled at appointed positions off the French coast at 4:50 a. m. Wednesday after making a hazardous passage across the English channel.

Landings were made at all six beaches included in the attack plan as aircraft covered the "miniature invasion" forces.

The objectives of the raid, said the communique, were:

1. The testing by offensive on a larger scale than previously of what is known to be heavily defended section of the coast.

2. The destruction of German batteries and a radio location station which was playing an important part in German attacks on allied channel convoys.

3. The destruction of German military personnel and equipment and the taking of prisoners for questioning.

MAY PROVE ANOTHER MOSCOW

THE situation in Russia may be shaping up to parallel that which developed before Moscow late last fall. Invading Nazis, after a long series of gains which have placed them far into the Caucasus, may be approaching the end of their driving power. British observers in London see the situation as improving.

By late November, 1941, the Nazis had all but enveloped Moscow. Embassies and many officials of the Russian government were supposed to have fled to Kazan, on the upper Volga and in the approaches to the Urals. Then the Nazis, caught in bitter winter weather and having difficulties with their lengthened supply lines, were victims of a strong Russian counter-attack which threw the invaders back a considerable distance to a prepared winter line. Their privations and losses during a severe winter are now a matter of record.

Stalingrad is in the position of Moscow last year. The invaders are threatening to envelop it, but the Russians are making their strongest stand there. Protected in the south by the Caucasus Mountains and at their backs by the Caspian Sea, they are free to put their entire military power into the defense.

ON THE OFFENSIVE

A milestone has been passed in the war and many persons still possess but a faint realization of its significance. When a strong Allied force crossed the English Channel and landed in France to battle the Nazis on a wide expanse of French terrain, the event marked the end of more than two years' of almost uncontested domination by Hitler of the European coast line from Norway to Spain.

From this period until Hitler and his armed might are blasted into submission by Allied guns and planes and men, this satanic scourge parading in human form will know nary a moment of freedom from fear of new and still more powerful landings, or of freedom from an ever-present presentiment that inexorable augmentation of Allied war strength can have only one result—defeat and devastation when the sound of Allied guns and planes and men blasting Nazis is finally heard in Germany.

Hitler has again made huge gains in Russia, as Napoleon did before him, obliterating everything in his path, but gains in Russia will be a millstone around his neck when the showdown which is in the making comes on the Western Front. Unrest in the countries Hitler has looted and garrisoned, resulting in an ever-increasing number of sorties against the Nazis—with reprisals, totally ineffective, constantly increasing in brutality—have frayed the nerves of the Nazi gangsters, but their effect has been minor compared to the pall of the finality that has now enshrouded them in the wake of the news from France.

Having gained unmistakable control of the air, in addition to control of the sea, the Allies have now mustered the strength to defy Hitler on land and do it devastatingly. They have taken the initiative and will retain it until Germany is blasted thoroughly. To stop short of this —as they so foolishly did in 1918—would be a mistake so horrendous as to make the mere suggestion revolting to all civilized peoples.

JAP SEA POWER IMPAIRED

While recognizing realistically that the Japanese are victors in the Pacific war to date, Americans will find in the history of this war since Pearl Harbor significant evidence of diminishing Japanese power at sea and in the air. In this circumstance there is the basis for a sound belief that the Japanese have reached and passed the peak of their strength and that, because of limits to their production capacity, they cannot hope again to attain the destructive force they possessed at the beginning of the war.

Although the most difficult phases of the Solomon Islands operations were those involving the actual landing of troops and the desperate fighting inland which finally enabled the Marines to become well established in new positions, the attendant naval functioning contributed substantially to the accomplishment of this main purpose. Ships of the Japanese fleet that challenged the United States warships accompanying the landing forces were driven off in retreat.

What is most important, from the viewpoint of military observers, is that the Japanese task force appeared at a critical phase of the conflict without aircraft carriers, another indication of the decisive character of the American victories in the battles of the Coral Sea and at Midway, when the Japanese lost the bulk of their aircraft carrier striking power.

As matters stand, accordingly, Japan is in possession of virtually all of the Western Pacific except Australia, New Zealand and islands immediately nearby, and retention of every inch of this land is dependent upon sufficient sea power to range and give battle over a front covering thousands of miles of the vast Pacific. Undeniably, Japan's sea strength has been whittled down considerably in her meetings with the United States fleet. Further losses will make infinitely less formidable the task of the United States in recovering lost possessions.

NAZI ECONOMIC ATTACK FOILED

An unusual phase of Nazi underground attack upon this country, that of economic warfare, has been spotlighted in the case of the New York diamond merchant, Werner von Clemm, convicted in Federal Court of violating the Presidential order freezing Belgian and Dutch assets after the German occupation.

Not a spy or saboteur, the naturalized von Clemm served his native Germany by selling costly gems. His methods were simple. The Germans had seized large stocks of diamonds when they took over Antwerp and Rotterdam. Some of these were to be shipped to the merchant in New York to be placed on sale here. When Federal agents arrested von Clemm gems worth $400,000 were confiscated. Funds realized from their sale were to be used, the government charged, to further Nazi propaganda in the United States.

It was a neat trick, putting American dollars to work for Germany and making a profit on the deal. But it didn't work. Von Clemm was charged with violating the Presidential order. Such violation carries a penalty of two years imprisonment. The diamond merchant will be deposited where he won't be able to carry on any more profitable deals for the Nazis in this country.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

NEED RECREATION IN WARTIME

Right now, more than ever before, young children, youths, even adults need more opportunities for recreation, especially of the sort which does not require transportation . There should be many more playgrounds for tots and older children, and wholesome places for teenage boys and girls to have good times together.

What a tragedy that so many playgrounds are unused all summer and almost never during week-ends and after school in winter; that most school gymnasia are dark practically every night the year around; and that few homes are welcome places for youths to gather for good times.

Many parents could do much for their runabout children if they would take them to play places and train these children to play in the near-by safe places right in the block. Often children will play in dangerous streets with a good playground or play space half a block away. Some wise parents cooperate by providing play places and equipment and help supervise play right in their immediate neighborhood. While it takes time and effort and may wear on your nerves to attract other children to your house, porch or back yard to play with your children, see what you are doing for your own children, not to mention those of the neighborhood.

Helps From Fathers

With less opportunity to get away from home, many young fathers can get out and play ball with the gang of the block or knock out "flies" for the boys and girls to catch.

I wish more dads might grow interested in Cubbing right now, serving as Den Dads for boys from 9 to 11. In doing so, the father provides safe creative play for his own boys, attracts playmates to his premises and grows to be a better father.

In order to further Cubbing, we parents need to educate our children early in adequate restraints and in respect for property. A big barrier to the best development of Cubbing is the lack of such home guidance. It is a little discouraging to a family who make their garage, basement and lawn available for a Den of Cubs to discover it to be a den of young destroyers. What is so tragic is that so many of these youngsters come from homes of average, or above-average, economic and educational opportunities.

It isn't easy to stimulate constructive and creative amusement among children who have learned to be destructive. Nevertheless, as I have said before in this column, all creative and constructive play is the very opposite of destruction and therefore tends to cultivate good character and citizenship.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Please suggest a good way to deal with the tot from 2 to 4 who will pinch and bite.

A. If he pinches or bites for apparent amusement, employ patient guidance in which you suggest, "Love Mother," or "Love Sister," as the case may be. If he can be induced to hug the one he has just pinched or bitten, the bad habit might disappear, and this also may work in regard to pets. But if the youngster pinches or bites in anger, to attack another person, apply physical pain always and immediately, preferably by spanking him. Try always to be in sight of this youngster while he is with other children until the habit disappears.

Q. Should boys as well as girls wash dishes and help about the house

A. Of course; but to have this happen with success the father will need to believe in it and co-operate. Father should also help occasionally.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
(International News Service Staff Writer)

Here we go again. The WLB refusal of a dollar-a-day increase to aluminum workers is "not acceptable to the union."

Says Mr. N. A. Zonarich, union president, "if a strike is to be avoided, either the board must reconsider its decision or President Roosevelt should intervene directly."

So here we go again.

Sure—we've got pledges of no strikes. Phil Murray and Bill Green must have made about a dozen each so far—and we've got the machinery to, theoretically, prevent strikes.

But Mr. Zonarich minces no words. "If a strike is to be avoided either the board must reconsider its decision or President Roosevelt should intervene directly."

If the game doesn't come out satisfactorily we must change the rules or ask the head umpire to play on our side.

Nice stuff, eh?

Of course we need aluminum. There are few materials we need more than aluminum. So what are we going to do about it?

Thought for the day: Let's put off until tomorrow what we should do today.

HINTS AND DINTS

The Democratic candidate for governor of Pennsylvania says he will make "Political Corruption" one of the issues of his campaign. That ought to be easy.

The government might order the snorting motorcycles off the roads not only for the duration, but for all time.

When a man leaves his home with a black eye he has a lot of explaining to do.

"My wife says that if I dont stop going to night baseball games, she'll leave me."

"Hard luck, old chap."

"Yes . . . . I'll miss her."

Some one has said there are only two kinds of girls—those who want to stay single and those who would rather knot.

No matter how old the racket there is always a new crop of suckers.

Stranger—Never count your chickens until they are hatched.

Farmer—Say, you must be one of them city experts who would take the chief pleasure out of the poultry business.

"Is your wife economizing to aid the war effort?" "I'll say. Look at the clothes she makes me wear."

A North Hill man says his son is doing well in business. "Last year he was wearing his clothes and now I'm wearing his."

Daughter—Maw, I wish you would stop bossing Pa around so much.

Maw—What's the matter now?

Daughter—Well, every time I get some nice boy interested in me he grows serious and asks me if I take after you.

"Forget and forgive" is good advice but most of us are for getting rather than for giving.

A detour is no respector of the condition of your tires.

A gal wants a divorce from her husband because he knocked out one of her front teeth. She still wants to eat corn on the cob.

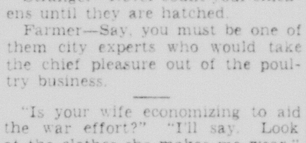

Hornpuff—Do you ever chase women?

Axtater—Lots of them.

Hornpuff—Say, I didn't know you were such a gay adventurer?

Axtater—I'm not. I'm a bouncer at a beer tavern.

Up to date, too late and too little has lost every battle.

Friends always praise us when we take it bravely. Our heroism is much easier on them than whining.

When a local man was asked what are the seven wonders of the world he replied, "I know only one—my wife's first husband."

It looks as if most of the tourist business is off for the duration.

"We've got more votes," chuckled an A. F. L. official, explaining his pull. White-collar people have votes, too, but they don't count if not organized.

City miss (to farmer): "Why are you running that sharp harrow over the grain field? Are you going to raise shredded wheat?"

The wealthy old lady decided she'd better make a will, and called in her lawyer.

"I want to explain a bit about the disposition of my property," she told the barrister. It was apparent that the woman did not have long to live. The lawyer was very sympathetic.

"Don't you worry about it at all," he said. "Just leave it all to me."

"I suppose I might just as well," she said. "You'll get most of it anyway."

It's a good thing to know what to do during a blackout even if it is only a sample of the real thing.

We often wonder how some people do any business, judging from the way they treat their customers.

A wise remark by Baron Munchausen:

"It is said that a burned child dreads the fire; and a newly married man certainly avoids his old flames."

THE IDEAL WIFE

The ideal wife manages to look beautiful and smart on the money her husband allows her. She lets him take the morning newspaper to the office. If he enjoys cigars, she says he's entitled to spend a dollar a day for them. It's his money, isn't it?

She packs his bag when he leaves on a trip. When he returns, she is satisfied with a casual account of what happened. She thinks it's good for both of them that he should go off on hunting and fishing trips twice a year.

She has the knack of attracting men, but she doesn't work at it. She is a good addition to any party. She plays a good hand of bridge and is a satisfactory golfer. She gets along well with servants.

Even though he never mentions it, she knows that her husband loves her and therefore is happy. The flattery of other men makes no impression on her. She is a one-man woman, you know.

She never makes any cracks about her husband's liquor bill. She understands the fine points of baseball and football. She picks up the good gossip but doesn't gossip herself. She has never complained of a headache in her life.

It never occurs to her that she is entitled to be an individual. You see, she's ideal—not real.

It's a good thing not to talk much to people who talk too much.

Butler—I saw you out with a woman last night, and she wasn't your wife.

Master—Well, well, you don't say

Butler—Not if you raise my salary.

Every woman is as good looking as she looks to some man.

A win-the-war committee met here at luncheon yesterday and resolved to have another luncheon.

The fight for freedom has always been a hard one. We are in the toughest fight now to hold it.

PERFECT MY BOY

Teacher—What are the products of the West Indies?

Boy—I don't know.

Teacher—Come, come! Where do you get sugar from?

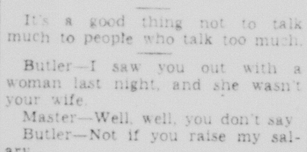

Boy—We borrow it from the next-door neighbor.

Just a look often leads people to get married. Of course a pocketbook also does it's part.

Very often things we have laughed at made us cry later.

The thought that there is some good in everybody is noble, even if the good doesn't always show on the surface.

Humble birth doesn't matter. Every aristocratic family must be started by somebody, so why not you?

It isn't probable the world will need all the history now being made.

A VARIATION

"Who's calling?" was the answer to the telephone.

"Watt."

"What is your name, please?"

"Watt's my name."

"That's what I asked. What's your name."

A long pause, and then, from Watt, "Is this James Brown?"

"No, this is Knott."

"Please tell me your name."

"Will Knott."

Whereupon they—even as you and I—both hung up.

CHILDREN'S PLAYMATES

"We have moved to a new neighborhood and my mother criticizes me for not allowing my young daughter to play with the children of the neighborhood, whose refinement I have not yet had opportunities to determine. Am I not taking the wise course?"—Fond Mother.

Answer: Girls acquire as much demoralizing knowledge in fashionable finishing schools as they do playing out front with neighboring children of parents not in the social register. As to their refinements of pronunciation and their knowledge of who's who and what's what they acquire them at home rather than at school or college or at play—if their parents are really refined.

The lonely little girl who spends much of her leisure looking out of the window at children happily at play grows introspective and acquires morbid tendencies that are more likely to breed bad habits than healthy romping with children who burr their "r's", slip their grammar and chew gum.

Question: When John Smith, Sr., dies does his son bearing his name cease to be "Jr."? If so, how does one differentiate between the widow of John, Sr., and her son's wife?—M. I. L.

Answer: After the death of his father the son bearing his father's name should drop the "Jr." His wife, of course, becomes "Mrs. John Smith," also omitting the "Jr." His mother distinguishes herself from her daughter-in-law by continuing to call herself Mrs. John Smith, Sr.

Question: Is it proper to have "Miss" engraved on one's visiting cards?—Sophomore.

Answer: It is not only proper but socially obligatory for an unmarried woman to have her title "Miss" engraved before her name on her visiting cards. The omission of this is a social error. This title is socially given to a girl when she reaches the age of 16.

Nelson Blamed For Poor Co-ordination
Lack Of Unity In War Effort Is Seen
American Production Could Fill Need

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—America's total production is ample to meet all of wartime's demands on it. And yet, collectively speaking, there isn't enough of it. This may sound paradoxical, but experts are practically unanimous in agreeing that it's true.

It isn't so mysterious, at that. One industry furnishes supplies of a raw material or some particular gadget, neither of which is of any use by itself, but, combined with different raw materials or gadgets provided a multiplicity of other specializing industries, reveals itself as an essential element in an urgently necessary machine, for war purposes or for civilian requirements, to keep war going.

Okay, the raw materials and the various differing gadgets are available up to the limit, each, but they don't get themselves assembled. And separately each one is no good.

Not only is the job of assembling 'em inadequately attended to, but their respective productions are unbalanced. Assume a demand for some big war engine, into the manufacture of which raw materials and gadgets A, B, C, D, E, F and G enter. The thing won't work without all of 'em included. Suppose then, that A, B, C, D, E and F are unlimitedly available. But there's no G. Accordingly nix on that machine.

Such is the existing difficulty.

Nelson Is Blamed

It's bad coordination, according to the experts.

Porduction Manager Donald M. Nelson is rapidly graduating into chief criticism for the situation.

Representative John H. Tolan of California is chairman of a congressional committee that's been investigating defense problems and his version is that Donald's been "too much of an umpire and not enough boss".

Each industry has its own bug as to its especial importance, naturally. Frequently two or three of 'em clash relative to supplies of raw stuff or labor to process it or facilities for its delivery. These disputes are put up to Don Nelson and Jack Tolan's thesis is that Don ought to settle 'em by a dictatorial order—

What Noted People Say

WASHINGTON — Claude A. Wickard, secretary of agriculture calls on farmers to lead the fight against inflation: "We cannot have continued rises in farm prices, or in any other prices without losing the battle of inflation."

RICHMOND, Calif.—Henry Kaiser, shipbuilding production wizard declared his plans for cargo plane production will be carried out. "We will build the largest ship that can get off the water."

PITTSBURGH—Lynn U. Stambaugh, national commander of the American Legion: "We will give until it hurts and we want only to know that all are giving, that the need is definite and that what we give is for specific necessary use."

MILWAUKEE — William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor: "Every worker, every farmer, every industrialist, every housewife must contribute to the victory effort. We can no longer do business in the old way, with each group trying to obtain the best bargain from the other."

UNCHANGEABLE

They say the world will never be the same.
I hold it will;
That when the cannon mouths have ceased to flame
And all is still
Mothers at night world-over will arise
And run to learn just why the baby cries.

A different world the sages say 'twill be
When peace is won
Things as they were again we'll never see,
Says many a one.
But when the tyrant frets the world no more
Parents will each their children, as before.

War ruins buildings and lays waste the towns
And maims and kills.
Kings are defeated and give up their crowns
As gunfire wills,
But children still at night will kneel in prayer
And ask for blessing here and everywhere.

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

"Sentimental slush" is what the British Broadcasting Corporation has termed some of the most popular British and American songs that have been coming over the air, and hereafter they will be banned as a bad influence on the soldiers and sailors.

The boys in the Army and Navy shouldn't be fed a sentimental song-diet, say the authorities. It makes them homesick, spoils their fighting spirit and softens them.

Give them pep-stuff, not maulin sentimentalism!

Among the songs banned are "Miss You", "Singing Sands of Alamosa", "Home-Coming", "I'll Just Close My Eyes", "Moonlight Cocktail", "You Walk By", "Autumn Nocturne", "If You Haven't Got Dreams You've Got Nothing At All", "Mandy Is Two" and, "Good Night, Daddy."

It seems there's something to the B.B.C.'s objection.

War needs a tonic not a narcotic.

Fighting has nothing to do with monlight and roses. "The Girl of My Dreams" is out of place where bombs are dropping and tanks roaring.

In an up-state community a group of club ladies arranged for lovely farewell dinners for the draftees just before they left.

The first dinner was beautiful. Lovely music, flowers, speeches, flag-waving and lots of sentimentality. (The food was fair.) The dinner was pretty well attended.

The second one was pretty much of a flop. The boys stayed away in droves.

At the third dinner, ninety-five per cent of the attendance were hosts, five per cent draftees.

There was no fourth dinner.

Soldier boys have no illusions. They know what they are going up against.

They want bouquets stuck in their gun barrels. They want cartridges.

Soldiers can only look one way—forward. The girl that's left behind is not nearly as important as the enemy in front.

You can't win a war with piano keys; the winning tune is the rattle of the machine gun and the crash of a bomb on the enemy's skull!

The World and the Mud Puddles

ONE FOR FATHER DIVINE

There are all sorts of influences working together for good and evil. Often an influence which many citizens believe to be evil is not so bad after all.

Take the influence of Father Divine, the Negro religious leader in New York. There have been a great many stones thrown at Father Divine, but here is a little story that shows that his influence was not so bad.

Out in California the Los Angeles County taxpayers are in receipt of an unusual gift of two hundred dollars in cash. The money came in two One Hundred Dollar Money Orders from a woman who signed them merely "Truth Gladness." She asked in a letter accompanying the money orders that the proceeds be applied to the General hospital and added:

"I am sending this to you because I cannot find the party to whom I owe it.

"Father Divine says we must pay all of our just debts. You can credit the receipt of this money to the influence of Father Divine and I wish you would write to him and thank him."

The woman in her letter went on to say that she had never been a patient at the General hospital, but had visited it often. She was not even a resident of California, her letter was written from New York City.

The General hospital of Los Angeles is a tremendous institution and it costs the county government large sums of money to operate it, and while Two Hundred Dollars is only a drop in the bucket, the receipt of it was greatly appreciated, as it was in a fact a real donation inasmuch as there was no obligation of any kind to pay the Two Hundred Dollars. The lady did not owe the county of Los Angeles anything.

It used to be that war was man's business.

Not today.

Now women are really in the war picture.

And there is greater opportunity ahead for them.

Now services of every available physician are required.

There are 160,000 licensed physicians in this country.

Only 7,000, or less than 5 per cent, are women.

America needs more women physicians and offers opportunities

Women are encouraged to study for a doctorate of medicine.

There are few women physicians now to take men's place.

After the war there will be many places for them.

Now is the time for women to train to become physicians.

Propose Strikes In War-Time Be Called Treason

Resolution To Be Voted On By Delegates To Legion Convention

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21.—Delegates to the Pennsylvania department of the American Legion convention today were to vote on a resolution branding strikes in war production plants as treason.

That resolution, along with others, was adopted yesterday by the resolutions committee and will be presented with its approval.

The resolution, as framed, does not single out any particular strike. But it condemns as treason any deliberate slow-down of munitions production by capital or labor ar "any other selfish interests."

Specifically mentioned for condemnation are strikes by labor and lockouts by employers.

Passing the committee with but two dissenting votes, was another resolution which called for admission to the American Legion all veterans of the present war after their discharge from service.

The committee also endorsed a proposal which will put hundreds of conscientious objectors into an Army uniform and into camps even if they don't pull a trigger. It also went on record as opposing industrial deferment for young men of Army age.

As regards the latter resolution, Leon Braunstein, of Scranton, chairman of the committee, said:

"There isn't anyone in any position in any industry who can't be substituted."

Outside of the resolution committee, another fight was waged to move state legion headquarters from Philadelphia to Harrisburg. The committee on internal organization voted to present the question on the convention floor today for membership to decide.

What's What At A Glance

instead of which, Jack says, Nelson arbitrates.

Representative Tolan's ideal is the organization of American industry on the basis of "one gigantic plant".

It's a plan to which an objection's raised in individualistic quarters.

It rests on the ground that, the war being over finally, industry'll be so completely governmentalized that it never'll get back to independence—it'll be run from overhead and workers will be (to put it plainly) "slaves".

An alternative's suggested.

It's to the purport that the army, the navy and the air corps ought, each to have final authority, each in its own individual field.

The immediate difficulty is that they might clash, too. The army wants the whole air force. The navy likewise wants it all. And as for the aviators, if they had their way, they'd amalgamate all surface-lings into their own arm.

Jealousy and Friction

That there's military-civilian jealousy is to be expected.

That doesn't signify much. The civilains are told to go to hades and do it with no controversy. As between army, navy and aviation wings, however, there's room for friction.

They're stung by one another.

The armed forces pull at cross purposes, according to Congressional Investigator Tolan, and that's what is the matter with 'em.

What we want, he argues, is a joint civilian-army-navy-and-aviatorial dictatorship to tell industry where to "get off at".

Investigator Tolan doesn't so much blame Production Boss Donald Nelson.

His impression is that Donald simply is confused between the conflicting testimonies of experts, to whose dope, one way or the other, he's entirely uninformed.

He's a heck of an arbitrator!—asserts Jack Tolan.

Don's loyalty isn't questioned. It's his competency.

WAR FUND PLAN

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21.—Delegates to the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union today were to recommend to their affiliated membership numbering approximately 250,000 that each man contribute one hour's pay each month to the united war fund, for a 12-month period beginning in September.

It was estimated that if the membership unanimously approves the recommendation, a total of $3,000,000 will be raised during the year.

DAY OF ATONEMENT TO BE DRAMATIZED

"The Great Day of Atonement" will be dramatized at the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle on the east side at this evening's service beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Rev. Edmont Paul Hains, the speaker, will use a ten-foot high replica of the "Tabernacle in the Wilderness" to illustrate his message. The pageant will reveal the true significance of the tabernacle and the Day of Atonement in the light of New Testament scripture.

Mr. Hains will be assisted by a large choir.

MISS WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA IS SELECTED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21 — The title of "Miss Western Pennsylvania" today belonged to Ruth Schmidt, a tall model from nearby Carrick, but the sheriff of Allegheny county was too tired to enjoy the show.

But weary or no, Sheriff Robert J. Corbett, has no regrets. He preserved his integrity and gave his all for glamor.

Corbett had promised to award a trophy and title to the winner of a beauty contest at a night club in McKeesport.

About 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night he turned up at the club "with my wife, please," where 15 charming examples of feminine pulchritude were awaiting the judging.

Six hours later, at 4:30 a. m., Corbett was still waiting, the trophy in his hand, and a weary expression on his wife. The original crowd of 1,000 had dwindled to a mere handfull of die-hards.

Finally, a few minutes later, the judges agreed on Miss Schmidt and Corbett arose with alacrity to present the winning beauty with the trophy.

"I don't blame the judges," the limp and weary sheriff said later. "They had an important matter to decide. But, oh, those acts they had before the judging. They went on and on."

Miss Schmidt, who will now go to Atlantic City for a try at the "Miss America" title, looked at the sheriff with envy. "You, at least had something to eat. I, hadn't eaten all day."

St. Petersburg, Fla., claims to have a municipally owned trolley system that is furthest south of any city in the United States.

Ceiling Prices Are Discussed

Local Merchants Meet At Court House On Thursday Evening

In a spot checkup of retail stores over Lawrence county, conformity with the ceiling price regulations is only about 50 per cent, Harry Hoover of the Office of Price Administration told a group of merchants in the court house Thursday night. The meeting had been called for instruction in the ceiling price regulations and for it court room number one was filled to overflowing.

With Mr. Hoover was Frank Page, also of the OPA. The two men spoke on the price ceiling regulations, showed a reel of film which depicted the method of displaying ceiling prices and then said that no prosecutions would be made for violations here until the merchants had been given an opportunity to familarize themselves with the regulations.

Attorney William J. Caldwell, chairman of the Commodity Rationing Committee presided at the meeting. A host of questions were asked in the forum conducted and apparently what violations were noted by the investigators were through lack of knowledge rather than through any intent to violate the rules.

In addition to merchants from Lawrence county, a number were present from Grove City.

C.I.O.-Aluminum Workers Prepare Strike Machinery

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 2—The CIO-Aluminum workers executive committee prepared their strike machinery today as they examined the War Labor Board's decision which refused them a blanket $1-a-day wage increase.

In answer to U. S. Labor Conciliator Charles R. Ward's earnest pleas that they preserve a "status quo" until all concerned scrutinize the WLB's ruling, International resident N. A. Zonarich, of nearby New Kensington, announced that the committee will meet again today at which time the sub-committee, appointed to formulate strike plans, will make its report.

Early today, the committee was to receive the complete text of the board's decision. The members plan to study the ruling prior to the afternoon session when they will meet again with Ward; Col. George E. Strong, of Detroit, a procurement officer for the U. S. Army Air Forces; Capt. E. H. Gallup, Army Ordnance, Pittsburgh, and representatives of the War Production Board.

"The last thing the union wants is a strike," Zonarich said.

PLEA TO F. D. R. GETS REJECTED YOUTH IN ARMY

(International News Service)

TEMPLE, Tex.—Jimmy Gilmore is an 18-year-old negro local draft board doctors swear has the flattest feet in this or any other town. So flat-footed is he, they will tell you, that his toes and heels just turn up and don't make a wet mark at all.

But Jimmy wanted to be a soldier in Uncle Sam's army and in spite of repeated discouragements, he continued to ask draft board officials to accept him. For weeks all he got was a firm "No".

So Jimmy wrote a letter to President Roosevelt, in fact two letters and pleaded with the commander-in-chief for permission to join the army.

Temple draft board officials finally got a notive that one Jimmy Gilmore would be acceptable as a soldier in the United States army.

The docs hope the persistent youth won't be put in walking outfit because—they assure you—he'll have the flattest feet in the army.

ARMY SEEKS SAILORS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Now we've heard everything—the Army is looking for sailors! Believe it or not, the Army has issued a call for seagoing men to operate the "taxis" of the Engineer Amphibian Command. The taxis ferry the men to the shore to start fires, or for scouting, and then race them back to their sea base

DRAFT GRANDFATHER

CAMDEN, Ark.—Albert L. Holt, a grandfather, has been called by the Ouachita Selective Service Board for induction into the army. Holt has a granddaughter, but told Selective Service officials that he is ready to serve his county. He is believed to be one of the first—if not the first—grandfathers inducted under the present draft law in Arkansas

Auto Tire Sandal May Aid Solution Of Rubber Crisis

Rubber Company Says New Product Soon Ready For Market

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 21.—A rubber-hungry nation today looked to the latest product of the United States Rubber company as a possible solution of the tire shortage due to war needs.

The rubber company's answer to the tire problem was said to be an auto tire "sandal," weighing 10 pounds, made of non-critical materials and to be placed on the market within a month.

Of cotton string woven rug-fashion and treated with an asphalt emulsion, the "sandal" would be slipped over a work or wearing tire and provide an average of 2,400 miles at a maximum speed of 30 miles per hour, company officials declared. The weave is produced by the Bigelow-Sanford Mills, Thompsonville, Conn.

Unveiling the newest known tire product to the press, its designer, Martin Castricum of the rubber company, said the sandal would require extreme care, adding:

"We don't claim perfection, but when drivers are desperate for tires our attachment will give them the mileage they want if they drive carefully."

While declining to discuss the probable retail price company officials said the sandal soon would be made available to passenger car owners through regular retail channels. Later, they added, light delivery truck operators may have an opportunity to purchase them.

Some Food Price Trends Dangerous Declares Henderson

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Price administrator Leon Henderson declared today that American consumers will be paying 30 percent more for many important foods a year from now, if the present trend continues.

"The prices in uncontrolled foods are drawing a dangerous pattern," the OPA chief said. "The effect of increases of this magnitude on the average family budget would be most destructive. Inflation would have a large foot in the kitchen, even if OPA continued to succeed in holding the line of prices it has set for the things it is impowered to control."

Weatherman Smiles, Employes Frolic At Beach On Slippery Rock

Stoughtons' Beach, Slippery Rock, echoed with sounds of joy and contentment as employes of the Reynands and Summers Clothing store, East Washington street, their families and sweetties frolicked at an annual picnic Thursday.

The gala event, held in weather that was made to order for an outing, started at noon and lasted until late in the evening.

At 6 o'clock the close to 50 persons gathered for a sumptuous dinner.

Dancing, roller skating, boating and games featured the evening program.

Chester P. Reynolds and Frank C. Summers, who sponsor the picnic annually for their employes, their families and sweeties, proved perfect hosts.

Dinner was served by Mrs. Sam Haycock of Sylvan Heights golf course, assisted by Mrs. Dave Ferry and Mrs. James Galone.

Babson Discusses Coming Age Of Substitutes And Sees Industrial Miracles

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1942—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21 — Most readers know that the steering wheels of automobiles are no longer made of wood, aluminum or steel but from a form of plastic derived from soy beans. Along with certain trimmings on automobiles it was the forerunner of hundreds of substitutes with which the American people are going to become more and more familiar. As rubber, metals and other critical materials become scarce, substitutes will offer new opportunities for merchants, workers and investors.

BABSON

What Are These Substitutes?

Substitutes are mostly derived from common materials which we have in great abundance. These include wool, coal, sulphur, clay, milk, vegetables and oils. From these basic materials can be developed all kinds of plastics and "ersatz" items. Most of them have been known in chemical and other research laboratories for some years. They have been produced and tested in small quantities. Men's hats are already being made from milk as are also blankets and bathrobes. Casein is also being used in the manufacture of paint, thus releasing vital chemicals necessary to the manufacture of gunpowder. Fibreboard is replacing iron and steel.

Paper containers are being used for milk, oils and other liquids. Glass is replacing aluminum and even fabrics. Wood pulp may be used for solid industrial truck tires, while bearings are currently made of powdered iron instead of brass and babbitt metals. Many other illustrations could be given such as ushing apple juice for burns, restoring blood volume and keeping tobacco moist; using paper reinforced by chemicals as a substitute for metals in making containers, flashlights, etc.; developing a non-spoilable butter for shipping; and using sorghum for making tapioca. The developments in new metals and what can be done with oil and gas are almost miraculous.

Effect On Householders and Merchants

Housewives and home owners will hardly miss their old gadgets and appliances. Instead of having to shove around a heavy steel refrigerator they will have a light weight plastic box showing probably but little outward change in appearance. When it comes to re-decorating a room our wives will have a variety of new and colorful materials to choose from. These will be better looking than the old materials and will be designed with efficient living in mind. Remember that always out of the chaos of war or depressions, born of necessity, come new articles of utilitarian use.

As merchants find their present stocks of goods running out, substitutes will refill their shelves. People are going to spend their money for something besides War Stamps and Bonds. This is why I have not worried over the outlook for retail trade. Hence, a proportion of our manufacturing capacity not using critical war materials, will be permitted to make these new products. These substitutes will render a real service through releasing more important materials necessary on the battle fronts. Mercantile buyers should lose no time in investigating these new products and co-operate with manufacturers in advertising campaigns to educate the public to buy them.

Already we hear a lot of talk as to what is to occupy our service men after the war is over. If the war ends suddenly in an armed truce much of our manufacture of armaments will go on. If the war continues over a long period of years to a final "clean up" of the Axis powers, labor will be needed in the rebuilding of Europe. In either event substitute products developed during the war period will hold over and may enter upon a period of growth comparable to the automobile or radio industry.

Ultimately, of course, we will run into a severe depression but for the immediate years after an armistice or a peace is declared this great new plastic and wood industry will occupy our thoughts and hands. Manufacturers, jobbers, workers, engineers, chemists, retailers and designers may all find new outlets for their time and energy in the development and sale of these new products. These are bound to play an important part in our industrial and commercial life in the near future. After the war, next to righteousness they may be our saving grace.

The Investor's Angle

Each generation usually enjoys some profitable investment opportunities. We had the age of shipbuilding in which great profits were made through foreign commerce. We have seen the development of our great transportation systems embracing railroads, street cars, motor cars, trucks and aeronautical systems. Light, heat and power plants, as well as means of communication embracing the telegraph, telephone, wireless and even television, have all come in my lifetime. Out of these inventions and developments fortunes have been made and livelihoods for millions of peiple the world over have been provided.

Many of the old line blue chip investments may go out of fashion. It may be smart to seek out so-called "special situations" in which to place investment funds. It may be that the development of substitutes will uncover many such situations. They surely embrace the entire chemical industry. The plywood business may be one of them. Entirely new businesses on a small scale will spring up but remember also that some of our great industrial corporations are already investigating the possibilities of substitutes. In fact, it is largely to them that we owe the development to date.

One tiny cabbage aphid, in a period of six months could have 564,087,257,509,154,652 descendants, if all lived and bred normally.

Farley Puts Candidate Over In New York Session

Bennett Gets Party Place

Farley's Candidate For Governor Is Nominated By Democrats

PRESIDENT SEEN AS LOSING FIGHT

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—James A. Farley stood forth today as a political personality to be reckoned with in the 1944 presidential campaign following his dramatic achievement in putting over Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., as the Democratic nominee for governor of New York.

Bennett's 623 to 393 victory on the first ballot over Senator James M. Mead, President Roosevelt's choice, was conceded on all sides to be an amazing personal triumph for Farley who "broke" with President Roosevelt in the 1940 Democratic national convention over the third term issue.

Puts Bennett Across

Farley put Bennett across in a historic state convention over the opposition of Mr. Roosevelt, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Senator Robert F. Wagner, Sr., Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn, Tammany leader Michael Kennedy and other powerful new deal politicians.

It was a unique spectacle, and one of the highlights of Farley's remarkable career. It was generally conceded that this was more than just a battle between Bennett and Mead — that, actually, it was a struggle between the new deal and Farley for control of New York State's big bloc of 96 votes in the 1944 Democratic national convention.

Farley today was the recipient of hundreds of congratulatory telegrams from all parts of the country. Farley accepted his victory with quiet modesty.

The state convention that nominated Bennett was unruly, marked by frequent outbursts and incessant booing of new dealers advocating Mead's candidacy. It was further dramatized by the first open nose-count on a convention floor in years. The delegates had to announce—one by one—whether they were for Bennett or Mead. They went on record, right out in the open.

The secondary places on the ticket were filled in routine fashion and without rivalry. The ticket follows:

Lieutenant Governor — Charles Poletti, of New York county, incumbent.

Attorney General—Solicitor General Henry Epstein, of New York county.

Comptroller — Joseph V. O'Leary, of New York county, incumbent, by appointment, who is a member of the American labor party which opposed Bennett.

Representative-at-large Matthew J. Merritt, of Queens, incumbent, and Mrs. Flora D. Johnson, of Syracuse.

Minnie Foster and others to Fred Scala and wife, Ellwood City, $1.

RETURNING PRISONER

Sheriff Clyde D. Badger left for Chisago, Ill., Thursday to return Nick Cubellis, charged with robbery. Cubellis lives on East Lutton street and it is said worked for Lewis Ross, near Gardner. On Friday night August 14 Ross' home was robbed and about $400 taken.

Chicago officers picked Cubellis up and according to the sheriff's office he had $400 or more on his person. In the meantime officers in Parkersburg, W. Va., picked up James Pompanio of Beaver County who it is charged participated in the robbery with Cubellis. Pompanio is in the county jail and Cubellis will be when the sheriff returns.

COUNTY TO BE LANDLORD

Within a few days it is expected the county commissioners will announce the name of the person who will head up the rental department of the county. The county commissioners have taken over a number of properties for taxes but which are rented. The county intends to handle the houses through the new rental department and someone will have to collect rents, see that the places are kept in repair and attend to the other details attendant to a landlord.

Some one will be appointed and the commissioners are about ready to make the announcement.

President Orders Plant Returned At Bayonne, N. J.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—President Roosevelt, on advice from the Navy Department, on Thursday issued an executive order returning the Bayonne, N. J., plant of the General Cable Corporation to its private management.

The president had ordered that the plant be taken over on Aug. 14 because striking employes refused to accept a war labor board decision denying them a ten cents an hour wage increase.

Floods In State Cost Lives Of 75

State Department Reveals Heavy Toll Taken By "Flash Floods"

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—Loss of life and property damage resulting from the numerous torrential storms of the cloudburst variety which have occurred in various sections of Pennsylvania since early spring is slowly approximating that of the record breaking flood of March 1936. In the 1936 flood some eighty lives were lost and already in the recent floods no less than seventy-five have perished. Total property damage in the recent floods has not been tabulated but because of the tremendous area covered there is no doubt but that the total damage will approximate that of March 1936.

While the floods on May 19 to 23 in the upper Delaware and Lackawanna watersheds and the July 17 and 18 flood in the upper Allegheny river basin were the most disastrous individual storms, very few sections have escaped without a so-called cloudburst resulting in a flash flood of unusual proportions.

In one instance more than twenty-five per cent of the total average annual rainfall occurred in a period of only fourteen hours. This was at Port Allegany where the records show the total annual rainfall is about thirty-eight inches. On July 18 there was a rainfall at Port Allegany in excess of ten inches in a fourteen hour period. This, as well as many other affected areas, is one of relatively light rainfall and not generally associated with floods.

The southeastern counties—particularly the Philadelphia area—have been especialy susceptible to these cloudburst rains during the past six weeks. Philadelphia alone has had seven storms of flood magnitude since July 27.

In other years it has not been unusual for the south-eastern counties to be hit spasmodically during July or August by coastal storms commonly known as "northeasters". However, the storms occurring in the area this year have been of the old fashioned cloudburst type affecting other areas.

The Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters cooperating with the U. S. Weather Bureau operates the most elaborate system of recording rain gages of any state in the Union. These gages register not only the amount but also the intensity of rainfall which is the predominating factor in the making of floods.

WOMEN READY TO AID

(International News Service)

PENDLETON, Ore.—If there's ever a shortage of men in industry just call on Pendleton women—they're experts at almost anything. A registration of skills discovered that one woman has been boss of a lumber camp and can "drive anything on wheels". Another woman reported that she is a graduate nurse and dietician, a former ranch manager and a good tractor driver, while still another said she was a railroad telegrapher during the last war and received a medal for her work.

The Institute of Life Insurance has just completed a chart which reveals that people live longer when business is poor and die more in prosperity.

Get Your Soldier Gifts Started Early, Tip Today

Do your doughboy Christmas mailing early!

Postmaster William R. Hanna today urged New Castle residents to have all overseas parcels in the mails between October 1 and November 1. He said every effort will be nade to deliver parcels mailed in that period if the sender plainly marks them "Christmas package."

"Condensed" presents seem to will be the style this year for lack of space, Poastmaster Hanna has learned from Washington. Boxes must be strong enough to endure abuse, and must not exceed 11 pounds in weight. Eighteen inches by 42 is the sixe limit.

The doughboys will not eat home baked pudding or fruit cake, the postmaster revealed. A ruling against perishable matter has been adopted. They also will not enjoy "Christmas spirits." Intoxicants are prohibited as well as inflammables and poisons.

In addition to the name and address, mother may say "Happy New Year" and "good luck" and still get the package through parcel post.

Newspaperman Who Went With U. S. Commandos On Dieppe Raid Tells Of Battle

(Editor's Note: Here is one of the most dramatic eye-witness stories of the war—a dispatch from Larry Meier of International News Service, only correspondent with the American Rangers, describing at first hand the gigantic commando raid on the French port of Dieppe. Wounded by shrapnel in the face and chest, Meier wrote this story under great difficulties, insisting that he finish it before undergoing necessary hospital treatment.

By LARRY MEIER

War Correspondent Representing the Association of American Correspondents in London.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—American Rangers—the first actual United States units to participate in land operations on the continent in this war—proved their gallantry and won victory in their all-important share of the record-breaking Dieppe assault.

I accompanied the Rangers and their fellow-warriors into heaviest flak (anti-aircraft) along the French coast where the allies blasted gun emplacements in order to cover the Dieppe landings.

I was the only correspondent to accompany the Rangers. We left a southern English port just before dusk like a Lilliputian armada. Our gunboat flagship was escorting scores of new American-made landing craft, flanked by another fleet of troop and tank-landers.

We returned somewhat fewer in numbers and many were bloody, including myself, but all were triumphant.

In Bitter Fighting

They had raided Berneval, defeated the Germans in bitter hand to hand fighting and smashed up two batteries.

Meanwhile, Canadian commandos had made a frontal assault on Dieppe—all proving that German continental defenses are not impregnable and thus raising the curtain on the second front to come.

Overhead throughout the day raged history's greatest air battle. Numerous Americans were flying Spitfires to protect the Yanks below.

Quiet prevailed until long after Tuesday nightfall when the gaunt silhouettes of minesweepers cut across the path of a half moon, creating a miles long protective front for our fleet.

Deepest night was mothering the gunboat and her numerous deadly ducklings as we passed through. When the Americans had become interspersed with British commandos it was first discovered that while not impossible, it will not be easy to establish a continental bridgehead.

Nearing the coast in pre-dawn blackness there was suddenly a cry from the bridge lookout: "Star shell to port, sir!"

Firing Started

The flare lit up our destroyer and then in a few seconds came: "Two star shells to starboard, sir!"

Then hell broke loose. Veterans of many naval engagements said they had never seen such flak. We had run right into four flag-ships—two on either side of us—and they were hurling everything they had, giving the British and Americans a ghastliest 25 minutes.

Ceaselessly, the four flak-ships poured shrapnel at our fleet, focussing on the gunboat. Tracer bullets showed the path of their deadly fellows and lit up the target, while our destroyer answered with all its guns blazing.

For the first time the desperateness of the situation dawned upon me when a youthful sailor taking shelter nearby screamed: "They got me."

He had lost his left eye.

I moved to better shelter, lacking a tin hat, and was now protected on three sides beside a funnel and a couple of ventilators. I watched the tracers fly across the bows, knowing that our moving target would come directly into the path of the next burst.

Struck By Shrapnel

Suddenly there was a blast in my face. I was knocked semi-conscious and thought I was a goner but I recovered, thinking it a lucky escape until I happened to put my hand to my face and discovered something wet and hot. Then my chest felt wet.

I realized I had been shapnelled in the left side of my face and my right chest but it didn't hurt for hours.

Later I discovered the concussion blew off my glasses which were lost.

The firing continued for many minutes more. Four different men were put into our forward gun turret and each successively wounded. Finally all guns abroad were silenced and at the same time the Flak ships were silenced, thinking doubtlessly that our gun-boat had been sunk.

Why it wasn't I can't understand. Certainly she was holed plenty, but for some time continued on to the coast, meanwhile dropping a landing party headed by a commando commander.

Then our damaged motors stopped and for some time we drifted in the vicinity of the Flak boats' range and that of German coastal batteries, but we were later towed away by American-made landing craft.

Fury Of Attack

The fury of the German assault against our fleet made me wonder what was occurring to the Anglo-American land troops. They had suffered losses but managed to make the shore and struggled up the clefts and cliffs to make a double encircling movement in the Belleville-Berneville district four miles east of Dieppe.

They wrecked batteries which otherwise would have shelled the major landing party at Dieppe.

Similarly the fourth commandos carried out a diversion and silenced batteries west of Dieppe without running into Flak interference such as our left wing.

Dawn brought history's greatest air battle. I watched numerous scrambles and individual dog-fights. I saw many Focke-Wulfs and Messerschmitts go into the drink, and I also saw some RAF planes go.

Yet the record RAF umbrella proved most effective. Lieut. Berry Chandler of Houston, Texas, was piloting a Spitfire which was later shot down but was picked up quickly and unhurt.

"From where we were it certainly looked good," he said.

Plenty Of Germans Riddled

"We saw plenty of Germans riddled. I think I got a couple myself." Lieut. Sam Junkin of Mississippi also was shot down, "but before I was I got my share," he said. "The fact that American-built Bostons flew over later in daylight and dropped bombs on the Germans without hindrance proves effectiveness of Anglo-American fighter support."

Ranger Edvin J. Moger of St. Paul, Minn., describing the Berneval blow said:

"Boy they met us with everything—mortar fire, machine-guns, rifles, flak and finally bayonets. But we got there all right, wiped out or captured the Germans and busted up their batteries.

"One of our officers cut through barbed wire and smashed an important interceptor tower.

"It was an uphill fight all the way, across beaches, through clefts, while the cliffs at re-embarkation time are always difficult due to ceaseless German gunfire and bombardment.

Can Get Thorugh

"But we showed we can get through defenses and now as a result of this experience we know a lot more about the Germans' coastal protection."

When the survivors of this vital diversion re-embarked and started homeward—I meanwhile had transferred to a speedy motor torpedo-boat—I was able to scout the coast to Dieppe. I could see the rangers, commandos and Canadians—the latter numbering a division—effecting landings in all six beaches selected as objectives.

It was certain by now that a heavy blow had been struck against one of the queen cities of Normandie and one of the key points of the German defense system in occupid France.

Along a front nine miles long wireless messages could be heard coming into headquarters ship for Gen. J. H. Roberts, commander of the entire operations:

"Yellow object captured; now moving on to green objective!" Was a typical one, the colors referring to places such as cliffs, ravines and machine gun nests. Such terms are applied especially to each job.

Along the right wing heavy fighting was going on. The second commando wave under Lord Lovat landed without opposition, so secret was the raid, but following waves met heaviest firing and hand to hand fighting.

Meanwhile, the main force had landed on beaches on either side of the Argues river estuary bisecting Dieppe and fought into the city before withdrawing on schedule.

From the channel smoke could be seen from both a Nazi smoke-screen and Anglo-American bombs plus ground attacks and shell-fire from destroyers.

Obviously the damage at Dieppe was heavy. The famous seafront of hotels apparently was set afire as smoke rose from the harbor section and the railway station where the tracks lead away to Paris.

Young Lieutenant Richard Hall of the Royal Navy said to me:

"We've succeeded not only in testing the German coastal defenses and finding out a lot about them, but we also damaged those defenses and killed and captured a lot of Germans.

"We have showed we can move a big force to the continent through German mine-fields, maintaining complete surprise."

However, on all sides it was admitted that after initial gains through surprise the Allies met toughest resistance, yet conquered it. There was an instance where Lord Lovat's commandos silenced a battery of six inch guns and blew up the main ammunition dump.

Many United Nations warriors were left on the beaches when they were unavoidably cut off but officers of combined operations stressed that none had surrendered to the Nazis until all possibility of re-embarking had been eliminated. And then many fought to the death.

Triumphant cheers arose from the throats of fighters of four nationalities when England's cliffs reappeared in sight with the evening dusk.

On the journey home we were the target of a few Luftwaffe attacks.

The great RAF sky fleet kept up its constant wall against the sky.

Our MTB picked up two RAF fliers from the channel. They had been spotted by their companions, who showed their pally cooperation by steadily circling over and diving into the area where the pilots were bobbing their "Mae Wests" in the center of green patches caused by a fluid released from a phial to facilitate observation from the air.

The second of the two pilots was picked up exhausted. He had downed two FW-190's and finally had been compelled to bail out himself.

The night before, through the blackness enroute to France, we had been able to see German signal flashed all along the coast informing neighboring posts that all was well. They soon learned they were mistaken.

On the other hand at dusk when our forces were chugging past the breakwaters of the English coast there were similar flashes—this time truthful—that ran along the English shores.

The Germans had but one farewell offering. That night their big Berthas shelled the coast but they didn't hit a thing.

I am dead on my feet. I want to rip off this blood-soaked uniform and climb between the clean white sheets of a hospital bed.

'Junk Rallies' Are Planned

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—A two-week long scrap harvest drive will be launched Sept. 14 with "junk rallies" in every community in the state, the state council of defense announced today.

The rallies will be addressed by local officials who will emphasize the need for uncovering all available iron, steel and rubber scrap and turning it over to local salvage depots.

"A personal canvass is to be made of every farmer in Pennsylvania to urge fullest cooperation in the scrap harvest," said Colley S. Baker, secretary of the advisory salvage committee. "We are going to attempt to make a final clean-up of the farm scrap in this special drive."

Baker added that tin can collections have been started in Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Harrisburg and other collection drives will be opened soon.

Playground Plan Being Developed

G. N. C. A. Promises Support To City-Wide Program For New Castle

Support to any broad city-wide playground development program here—and one may be announced at City Hall before October—has been promised by the Greater New Castle Association.

The GNCA board of directors last night at a meeting in The Castleton authorized C. Leroy Shira, its playground committee chairman, to cooperate in every way with any civic move along that front.

City Councilman D. O. Davies, a board member, told the board he thinks playgrounds here should be put on the same solid operating basis as is the public library.

Alec Samuels, also a board member and a City Park Commission member, informed the directors the commission working at present on such a program and expects to submit it to city council within a short time.

New industrial progress was sketched for the board members. Association affairs were discussed.

The group extended a warm vote of confidence to Roger Jewett, GNCA executive vice president, for his service during the year. Jewett took the post here early last September.

Commandos Return With Dieppe Living Souvenirs

All objectives of the raiders, such as blasting of military establishments, were achieved in the nine-hour raid. Sees Difficulty To Keep Theatres Open During War

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Christopher J. Dunphy, chief of the WPB amusement section, said today that it will be "increasingly difficult" to keep the nation's theaters open.

Dunphy told the theater industry advisory committee that the industry has demonstrated ability to maintain existing equipment in top running order and salvage all possible old equipment, but that there must be an even greater effort if theaters are to survive.

"The WPB wants to keep all theaters open for the duration of the war, but as the war progresses, we should realize that this will become increasingly difficult," he said.

Nearly 1200 Have Enlisted Here Since Jap Sneak Attack

Report 619 Join Army; 294 Navy And 276 Marines During War

Uncle Sam's three fighting services—the army, navy and marines—have enlisted a total of 1,189 New Castle district men since the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, recruiting figures disclosed today.

The army led with 619 while the navy enlisted 294 and the marines 276.

Each of the services said local recruiting is progressing at top speed, and indicated the 1,189 total would be swelled considerably at the end of August.

Located in the Federal building, the three service branch offices operate under Pittsburgh supervision. Sergt. John T. Bilpuch is in charge of army recruiting, Chief Shipfitter D. C. Ritchie is in charge of navy recruiting and Staff Sergt. John F. Dean handles marine recruiting.

Other New Castle district young men have enlisted in the coast guards and as aviation cadets, but those enrollment figures were not available here.

Savoia Auxiliary Fourth Anniversary

Large Crowd Attends Dinner-Program Of Casa Savoia Auxiliary At Club Rooms

Patriotism and V-for-Victory was the theme predominating on Thursday evening, at the fourth annual anniversary dinner of the Casa Savoia auxiliary, held in their club rooms, South Mill street.

Individual places were marked with the patriotic colors, and red, white and blue streamers were prominently displayed. Fresh flowers centered the table, a lovely bouquet being sent by the King Humbert auxiliary. Corsages were worn by the officers and special guests.

The Rev. Fr. Dante DeLillo, of Sharpsburg pronounced the invocation, and following "America" was sung. A spaghetti and chicken dinner was served.

President, Mrs. Clotilda Ross, introduced the founders, Mrs. Concetta Leonardo, ex-president, and Mrs. Anna Marie Colucci. The chairlady of the event, Mrs. Lucy Lemer was in charge, later, and in turn introduced, Rev. Fr. Dante DeLillo. Father DeLillo extended greeaings from Fr. DeMita, and also congratulated the auxiliary on their fourth anniversary. He went on to say that in a nation such as ours, where Italian-Americans play such a huge part, it is our duty to give—and give all for democracy. His talk was well received. Other speakers who also gave greetings and congratulations included: Mrs. Margaret Sinabaldi, president of the C. Columbus Society auxiliary; Mrs. Florence Domenick, president of the Sons and Daughters of St. Margaret's society, Mahoningtown; Rose Sica, president, of King Humbert auxiliary; Paul Micco president of Casa Savoia society, Mrs. Concetta Leonardo, ex-president of the auxiliary and original founder. Mrs. Clotilda Ross, president thanked all, and after fitting remarks, presented a gift to the ex-president, Mrs. Concetta Leonardo, in behalf of the auxiliary.

From a small organization of 60 members, the auxiliary now boasts a membership of 200.

During the course of the evening, a call was received from Mrs. Mary E. Conti, extending greetings. Due to a recent operation, Mrs. Conti, was unable to attend.

Special guests included: Rev. Fr. Dante DeLillo, Paul Micco, Mrs. Margaret Sinabaldi, Rose Sica, Mrs. Florence Domenick, Mrs. Pauline Avanzelina of St. Louis, Mo. Fannie Contiula, Cleveland; and Palma Julian, of The News. At the end of the program, dancing was the main pastime, music being provided by Louis Gaspare and his musicians.

Mrs. Clotilda Ross, president, had as her chairmen, Mrs. Lucy Lemer, and co-chairman, Mrs. Anna Rotunno. Kitchen aides were: Mesdames, Antoinette Armando, Elizabeth Cubellis, Lucy Villiani, Raffaela Lamberti, and Carmela Magliocchi. Dining room: Mesdames Marietta Cavaricci, Anna Palmer, Mary Ross, Josephine Bucci, Clara Colalla, Assunta Sabelli, Angeline Frasso, Lorina Pecoraro, Edith Semione and Teresa Giancritofaro.

Over 100 persons were in attendance at the annual corn roast, given by the Moody Men's Bible class, for members of the First Methodist church on Thursday evening at Cascade Park.

A pleasant informal time was enjoyed by the group. This was voted to be one of the biggest and most successful corn roasts given in the history of the church.

FAMED ATLANTIC FLYER SETS NEW AVIATION RECORD

(International News Service)

LONDON—Jim Mollison, 36-year-old Atlantic record flyer and now wartime ferry pilot, is again in the news. He has made a new record by piloting a "Flying Wing" more than 4,000 miles to the Far East.

The plane was needed by the Free French, and Mollison volunteered to fly it alone across the Mediterranean, despite the risk of meeting armed German or Italian Machines.

For many months Jim had been delivering Spitfires and other planes from the factories to the maintenance depots.

He was getting a bit tired of this and wanted something more exciting. When he heard that volunteers were wanted to take the "Flying Wing" to the Middle East he went after the job.

Train Firemen In Central Fire House

All Classes To Be Held There; Begin At 8 P. M. August 24

W. J. Connery, president, and G. S. Genkins, secretary, today announced that all classes for training firemen, as prescribed by Bulletin 149, State Council of Civilian Defense, will be conducted in the Central Fire department. The dates and hours will be designated from time to time by those in charge of the classes.

This decision was reached last night when members of the fire department, with representatives of each company present, convened in the Central department.

The committee stated that the first class would be held at 8 p.m., August 24, and those who desire to take the course should now enroll.

The nasturtium has a pungent odor, and its name is originated from this smell. Nasturtium is from the Latin nasus, "nose," and torquere, "to twist." Literally, then, nasturtium means a "nose-twister."

No matter how smart, successful and powerful they are, they are too small to be leaders if they can't accept correction and profit by it.

Manpower Needs Of Plants Brings Jobs For Disabled

Physically handicapped job-seekers of the New Castle district, once relegated to the economic scrap heap on the mistaken notion that they could not fit into industry, are taking their places in increasing numbers alongside so-called "normal" workers, Raymond J. Latchaw, head of the United States Employment Service office in the Citizens bank building, revealed today.

Manpower today is at a premium, and Latchaw reminds that it takes lots of it to turn out natural resources into finished materials of war.

Latchaw said the men already placed are producing to their own and their employers' satisfaction, according to reports reaching him.

Over 53,000 jobs were filled by the national employment service from the ranks of the handicapped in 1941 as compared to 27,000 in 1940. Pennsylvania's 80 offices last year alone placed 1,069.

Latchaw said that for years handicapped men and women everywhere were caught in a vicious circle—no jobs because of no experience and no experience becaues they could not get employment—but he believes that circle is being broken in Pennsylvania "for good and all".

Students of personnel problems have informed the employment office chiefs in Washington that, in spite of all the hiring, a huge reservoir of untouched handicapped workers remains.

They believe half a million still remain on registers of job offices while another half million are looking for work on their own.

Latchaw thinks that as our war production climbs to capacity more and more of these will be called by war industries or essential civilian jobs.

Talking Too Much President Warns

Heads Of Departments And Agencies Get Letter From Roosevelt

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. — Declaring that some government officials are talking too much, President Roosevelt today sent identical letters to the heads of all federal departments and agencies cautioning them against making public statements based on inadequate information in war-time.

The president observed that some government heads are talking too much and that the objective of the letter was to prevent them from creating false impressions by taking opposite sides of a controversial public policy reported in the press but not adopted by the federal government.

The president's letter said that such talking "is inadvisable at any time.

"But in times of war it is particularly contrary to public policy," the chief executive added.

ELDERS, ELLWOOD NOTCH VICTORIES

City Baseball league rivals—seven of 'em—are still trying to design a method of beating the surging Moose club.

As the second half race nears the finish wire, the Rodenbaugh-piloted aggregation sports a three and a half game lead that seems insurmountable in view of the fact that the pace setters are playing above par ball.

In last nigt's setto with the Lawrence Indies on Marshall field, the Moose trailed by two runs. In the fifth the leaders avercame the deficit with a three-run splurge. After the cellar dwellers knotted the count again, the Moose bagger their 11th verdict in the eighth

Frigione-Rozzano Star

Since the Slovaks and Bessemer played a 5-5 deadlock, the Moose proceeded to inflate its first place lead. The winners' battery, Frigione and Rozzano, led the gunnery attack, each with a triple.

The second place Slovaks blew a 5-1 advantage on Mahoning field and had to be content with a 5-5 draw in their skirmish with Bessemer.

Majeski and Mingione came across with a single and double, respectively, to give the Slovaks a 5-1 edge. A double by W. Stanley and a one-bagger by Johnson whittled the Slovak margin, 5-2. In the sixth, G. Stanley singled, as did W. Stanley and Johnson to score G. Stanley. Johnson pilfered second, an overthrow by Dugan and Shabala's error tied the count.

Ellwood City moved into the first division by shading Croton, 5-4, on Croton field.

Mazzant was the main guy with three hits, one of them a triple. Biazin and Friedhoff contributed two hits to the winners' blitz. Parillo, D. Robinson and Pitcher "Jewie" Coen, who was credited with the loss, highlighted Croton's hitting attack.

Elders In Romp

Tattooing Mehalic and A. DeMonaco for 15 hits, two of them a double and a triple by Weisz, the Edler A. C. annihilated West Pittsburg, 10-0, at West Pittsburg.

The contest went six innings with the Elders scoring in every frame, excepting the fourth. Maher topped the list with four hits. Pitcher Gunnett, besides checking the 'Gashouse Gang" with five hits, helped himself to three safeties. "Dick" Biddle collected a pair of hits, too. A. DeMonaco got two of the losers' bingles.

Wyatt Twirls One-Hitter As Brooklyn Wins

Mize's 20th Homer Robs Baldish Whit Of No-Hitter; Pirates Tripped, 5 To 3

ATHLETICS RING UP TWO OVER SENATORS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—Brooklyn was breezing along seven games ahead of the National League parade today. Whitlow Wyatt, the baldish, 35-year right-hander was responsible for the Dodgers' good cheer.

Wyatt yesterday scored his 15th victory of the season by hurling a one-hitter against the third-place New York Giants. The Georgia flash would have had a no-hitter except for Johnny Mize's home run.

Mize was first man up in the second inning and the big first baseman proceeded to belt a home run over the right field fence and out of the park to spoil Wyatt's perfect day.

Dolph Camilli tripled home one run and scored himself on Mickey Owen's single in the second frame to give the flock their 2 to 1 victory. The Dodgers, all told, collected six hits.

Pirates Belted, 5-3

Cincinnati, in the only other game scheduled in the league, belted out a 5 to 3 victory over Pittsburgh, Johnny Vander Meer scoring his 14th win. Vince DiMaggio rapped home the entire quota of Pirates' runs with his 15th homer, his second in two days.

In the American League, Jim Tabor's ninth home run in the fifth inning, helped the Boston Red Sox to a 7 to 4 victory over the New York Yankees. Bill Dickey clouted a round-tripper for the Yankees in the same frame.

The defeat cut the Yankees lead to ten and a half games over the Red Sox.

Philadelphia scored a double victory over the Washington Senators, 9 to 2 and 6 to 1, the Athletics scoring five runs in the 12th inning to take the nightcap.

In the only other game in the league, Chicago rapped St. Louis, 8 to 5, piling up six markers in the fifth inning. Johnny Humphries was the winning pitcher, Steve Sundra the loser.

Robinson Rules 3 To 1 Favorite As He Bids For 34th Straight Pro Mitt Victory

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—Ray Robinson, lethal punching uncrowned welterweight champion from harlem, ruled a 3 to 1 favorite today to score his 34th straight professional boxing victory tonight when he clashes with Ruben "Cowboy" Shank of Denver, Colo., in a scheduled ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Shank, who has been amazing Broadway with a cowboy outfit straight from a theatrical costumer in Newark, N. J., where he trained for tonight's melee admits to only two defeats in 32 fights. The betting boys of our town, however, are wagering even money that Robinson will stop the westerner.

Shank will go into the fracas with old cut wounds over the eyes. As a target for a sharp-shooter of Sugar Ray's ability, the old cuts may prove to be a heavy burden.

Shank's chief claim to fame were decisions over Zivic and Henry Armstrong. Zivic, however, reversed the decision in a return match with the Denver "cowboy".

Coach Stagg Says Stars Far Advanced For Chi Bears Clash

CHICAO, Aug. 21.—Amos Alonzo Stagg, 80-year-old gridiron coach, was of the opinion today that the All-Star college football team is "remarkably far advanced in training" for its charity game with the Chicago Bears, August 28.

Stagg, now coach at the College of the Pacific, follows the All-Stars through their routine at Northwestern University stadium and shows keen interest in the blackboard discussions led by Bob Zuppke, head coach of the collegians.

Steve Kovach Reaches Finals

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Wilford Wehrle, a co-medalist who overcame the traditional jinx by reaching the finals, today had to beat Steve Kovach of Pittsburgh, Pa., before he could take the Chicago National Amateur golf championship back to his home in Racine, Wis.

The two finalists were on their way to settle the title in a 36-hole match over the well-groomed layout of the Knollwood Country Club.

Kovach had an easier time reaching today's match as he needed but 28 holes of play to oust Frank Kovack of Chicago, 9 and 8, in their semi-final match.

CORCORAN NAMES GOLF'S TOP THREE

Jones, Hagen And Sarazen Selected; Foresees $50,000 Tourneys After War

By BOB BRUMBY
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—Now the final—for the duration at least—judgment on golf can be made!

Who were greatest golf players this nation has produced? The old guard against the new. Which produced the greater stars?

Comes the answer from a man best qualified to know. Fred Corcoran, man and boy, has been looking at the links stars under the hottest pressure for nearly 22 years. Now 37, Corcoran is of the modern school.

Corcoran rates the drive and putt greats in this order:

Jones, Hagen and Sarazen!

With Corcoran, who should be prejudiced toward the modern school since his business has been to promote them, making such a pick there can be no doubting either his judgment or his sincerity.

"You have to stick with Jones, Hagen and Sarazen," states Corcoran, who has been tournament director of the Professional Golfers Association since Jan. 1, 1937.

"They had every shot in the bag. They gave you a great show. When they missed a shot, they missed 'em quick. No fooling around measuring putts, no dilly-dallying on a simple shot.

"After Jones, Hagen and Sarazen, I pick Nelson, Hogan and Snead in that order. They are brilliant shot-makers, relentless competitors, but they lacked the showmanship and general ability of the old guard," continued the frank spoken, handsome Irishman from Boston who was a fine golfer in his own right as an amateur before taking over his duties as head herder of the money players of the links.

What does the future hold for golf after the last echo of this World War has died away?

Foresees Big Tourneys

Corcoran believes there will be $50,000 golf tournaments. Since he took over in 1937, the professionals have played for more than $1,000,000 in prizes. The top prize money was put up by AGUA Caliente in Mexico several years ago, $25,000 in glittering doubleoons, with Sarazen winning the jackpot.

What is the outstanding feat he has witnessed during the rich, swirling years he watched golf from a front row seat?

"That's easy," came Corcoran's ready reply. "Although I saw Craig Wood fire his record breaking 264 in winning the Metropolitan Open a couple of years ago and also have witnessed the other top scoring sprees of the boys, nothing can compare with Sarazen's breath-taking finish to win the 1932 open.

"Gene played the final 28 holes in an even 100 strokes.

"You can't match that. Yes, the old boys were the greatest players this country has developed. I'll gamble my reputation on that."

Elders To Honor Two Service Men

Joseph O'Leary today announced that the Elder A. C. will honor Tommie Strausbaugh and Sammy Janacone, who are home on furlough, and "Dick" Biddle, who dons a khaki uniform next week, tonight at 8 o'clock in the Elder clubhouse, Marshall field.

M. J. Donovan, president of the City Baseball league, will be a special guest.

Strausbaugh and Janacone played with the Elders until they joined the armed forces. Biddle plays the outfield for the Elders.

MAKING PROGRESS - - By Jack Sords

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—At this time when names are being tossed about casually for the major leagues' most valuable player awards, I'd like to offer two players—two players alone without alternates for the plaques that will be passed out next winter. The two gents I have in mind seem to symbolize to me all that the most valuable player award means as a thing that encompasses sportsmanship, ability and achievement day after day through tough baseball campaigns.

I offer you two men, and two only, viz:

Mel Ott, manager of the New York Giants.

Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Can't Be Overlooked

Strangely, neither will win a pennant. But both of them have that singular spark that makes them standouts and they have come into their own in tough spots both as players and managers to such an extent that they can't be overlooked in the balloting, and, as far as I am concerned, can't be overlooked in the final choice unless suddenly they veer away from the standard they have set so far.

Last year Dolph Camilli was a standout in the National by virtue of the things he did for the Brooklyn Dodgers in their march toward the National League pennant, and Joe DiMaggio finally was selected over Ted Williams in the American.

Last year DiMaggio had hit in 56 straight games and had proved himself a thoroughly most valuable player in the American. Camilli had provided the punch that made the Dodgers pennant winners.

But this season neither of those clubs have anybody to offer, although they both probably will win their penannts again.

Lou Boudreau has been a great ball player and a great leader all season at Cleveland. Mel Ott has been equally great with the Giants.

The most valuable player award generally goes to pennant-winners and that is only natural because pennant-winners more often than not have a standout star to offer, but not this time.

The Yankees seem to have the American League pennant sewed up and their standout man is Joe Gordon, yet you couldn't very well class him as the most valuable player in the league. Neither could you give Ted Williams that designation in view of his leadership in hitting, home runs, etc., etc., for Williams hasn't yet caught on to the idea a few weeks ago when he was fined and benched for loafing and arguing with the fans?

Joe DiMaggio can be eliminated forthwith because he has been in a slump most of this season.

Boudreau has made the Indians snap out of it.

The same goes for Ott.

Ott Revives Giants

The New York Giants rapidly were disintegrating under the leadership of Bill Terry, who was a great ball player and a mediocre manager. Ott was elevated to managership of the club. And this season Ott has come along to be virtually assured of a third place finish when the second division seemed to be ordained.

Meantime, Boudreau and Ott have played great ball themselves to further inspire their teams and they seem to be a couple of gents who will measure up to exactly what the most valuable player awards means.

In any case, they're my guys for the most valuable player award and I'd like to see the tabulations giving it to somebody else.

Last Major Tennis Tourney In New York; Fred Schroder Favored

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The last national amateur tennis championship for the duration will bring on a battle in the men's division among players already in the service and others who are about to go, the United States Lawn Tennis association revealed today. The tournament is slated to begin August 27.

Fred Schroder, of Glendale, Cal., the standout favorite to take the crown, will go into the service immediately after the tournament, and most of his sternest challengers already are in and will be playing in the national championships on a leave of absence.

Gardnar Mulloy, of Miami; Seymour Greenberg, of Chicago; William Talbert, of Cincinnati, and Girl Hunt, of Washington, all are headed for the service.

Both the men's and women's singles championships will have new title-holders in as much as Bobby Riggs has turned professional and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke will not defend.

May Re-exam Value Of Special Sports

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Undersecretary of war Robert P. Patterson today strongly hinted that special sports events will have to make a new showing of their value to war morale if they are to be continued.

When asked at a press conference if army sports teams such as the east and west army football teams would be continued, Patterson replied that "the topic is under constant study." He added:

"As the pressure of war becomes stronger I think it is quite obvious that the question of special sports events will have to be re-examined."

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

There's an idea in the wind concerning the Victory Gardens and their ouput. It seems that maybe a little Victory Garden Show would be in line. Personally, we think it a splendid idea . . . it would give the population a chance to see what fruits and vegetables were actually grown in the vicinity. The show will be free for contestants and a small charge is being considered for admission . . . this amount will be turned over to the U.S.O. . . . That is the plan as it seems to stand now in the minds of the promoters of this affair. We hope to be giving you more information in the near future.

TRADE PULLER

Ed and Geroge both made a start
In towns not many miles apart.
Each in business wished to rise.
Each in his way did advertise.

Said Ed, "I'll see that paper man
And write my ads on the contract plan
I'll let folks know that I'm alive
So in the paper I'll advertise.

Said George, "I'll have to let folks know
That I'm in business and on the go,
I'll give them quality, service, price,
With courteous treatment trade entice."

Now Ed, with the help of the paper man,
Wrote some keen copy and laid a plan
To advertise the whole year round.
And build a business safe and sound.

But honest George ne'er realized
The mistake he made when he advertised;
He never had a written plan,
And received no help from the paper man.

A traveling man one day asked Ed,
"Well, how is business?" With a smile he said,
"It sure is fine! I am surprised
The way goods sell that are advertised."

This traveling man asked George next day,
"Well, how is business, does it come your way?"
"It's mighty slow," and he sadly spoke,
"I guess I'll quit 'ere I go broke."

Dear Merchant: Are you George or Ed—
Are you alive or are you dead?
These days if you would be alive
You've certainly got to advertise!

Minute Men Drive Is Great Success

Seven Thousand Pounds Of Scrap Collected At Pleasant Hill District

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 21.—Ellwood City's Salvage Minute Men found their first day of canvassing the farm district for scrap metal a great success. The purpose of the Salvage Men, who are insurance men (Percy Wright, Eugene Lebowitz and William Melter), is not to show a big profit but to get the metals to the places they are needed. They will devote one day a week to the collection.

Visiting the Pleasant Hill section, they stopped at 12 farms and bought two truckloads of scrap aggregating 7,000 pounds of zinc, copper, and aluminum. They paid out $29.14 and sold the scrap for $48, making a profit of $18.86. One farmer gave them 1,000 pounds of scrap free, which explains the profit margin. The entire proceeds will go to war relief agencies.

The Minute Men did not get as much for the scrap as they expected, as the price paid by dealers has been cut from 75 to 65 cents per hundred pounds.

They will return to the Pleasant Hill district next Wednesday and urge the farmers of that area to get their scrap ready.

It is likely that one day's collection will be given to the Ellwood Service drive which is used to send papers to boys in the Service.

Hershey Says That Draft Calls May Be Extended

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Drafting of men for the navy, marine corps and coast guard is coming into the picture, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of the Selective Service, stated on his arrival in Chicago today.

Gen. Hershey, who will address the National Institute for Commercial and Trade Association Executives at Northwestern University, declared that "this has not been definitely arranged as yet, but it is in the offing."

He said industry will have to begin immediately giving up men who are suitable for the armed forces. He asserted:

"I have notified the vital war industries that they too must give up skilled men if they come under the classification of married men with wives only and unmarried men with one dependent. Their places must be taken by older men and women.

Ellwood Retailers Attend Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 21 — A group of 125 Ellwood and district retailers attended the overflow meeting held last night at the court house, New Castle, arranged for the purpose of explaining the price ceiling regulations.

No satisfactory results were secured from the meeting, inasmuch as the O. P. M. representatives attending declared that the difficulty in maintaining ceilings lay with the jobber, overwhich the O. P. M. has no control. The merchants were advised to "gang-up" on the wholesaler as one means of solving the problem of the retailer being charged more for the product than the listed ceiling price for selling articles.
